THE BARD BECKONS: CONTROVERSIES IN PSYCHIATRY

September 19-21, 2008

by David Rovno, MD

“Controversies in Psychiatry” is the title of this year’s weekend in Shakespeare country with our Oregon colleagues. We will be discussing two plays: Shakespeare’s “Othello” and Arthur Miller’s “A View from the Bridge,” which deals with corruption on the New York docks.

This year the meeting will be held at the historic Armory which is walking distance to the theater, restaurants and shopping.

Among educational topics chosen this year are: “New Neuroscience Research on Consciousness, Memory, Object Relations and Child Development with Implications for Psychotherapy with Children, Families and Adults” with Nancy Winters, MD.

There will be an optional luncheon at Aaron Chapman’s summer home in nearby Talent on Saturday afternoon. This will be a great opportunity to socialize with your Northern California colleagues. If you wish to attend, make sure to sign up for this on your registration form. We will work out ride-sharing for those who request it in advance. Directions and maps will be sent prior to the luncheon.

We will once again have Drs. Robert and Michaela Grudin in discussion with actors and viewers of these two marvelous plays. This year there will be two optional plays to choose from on Thursday night: Shakespeare’s “The Comedy of Errors,” and Jeff Whitty’s “The Further Adventures of Hedda Gabler” in which Hedda Gabler and other fictional characters live on in purgatory, trapped by the confines of character imposed by their authors.

Ashland is always a rich experience, and this meeting is promising to be an especially rewarding one in a beautiful setting with time to socialize with friends old and new.

A formal brochure will be mailed to you in July, but you can register early by sending this form to the NCPS office.

See you in Ashland!
